

Interning the Solar Car Challenge

How to go from competing to judging

Who Should Intern?

Lots of different ways you help - any skill set is useful!

- Technically inclined people
- Public relations people
- Engineers
- Anything else!

Roles and Duties of an Intern

- Scrutineering to make sure teams follow the rules
 - Bonus: get to see inside all the cars you were always curious about!
 - Really fun and less stressful than being on the other side of the competition
- Get to talk to other judges and help improve the race rules by discussing all the ways your team may have bent the rules a little
- Assign hat penalties!!
- Talk to teams and help them navigate the race day

The Intern Experience

- Smartest most caring and fun group of people you'll ever work with
- Extremely interesting to see everyone's different backgrounds and insights
- Can be adapted to fit what you're good at!
 - Can work at the scrutineering station you know best
 - Lots of different odd jobs to go around, do what you like best
- Dr. Marks tells excellent stories
- Excellent connections and resume booster - interviewers are always extremely interested

Summary

Very tiring! (See intern nap) →

Very rewarding and couldn't recommend it more
